Good News- for Shippers

Start Free Pickup.

On Oct. 1 southwestern lines inaugurated free pickup and delivery service on less than carload lot shipments. Goods are now being transported from the shipper's door to that of the consignee for the same price that it previously cost for transportation from station to station.

An allowance of five cents per hundred pounds is made to shippers who deliver their own goods to the stations of the interested railroads.

The St. Louis Southwestern goes a step further. On Oct. 1 it put into operation schedules that afford overnight deliveries in a 590 mile zone from St. Louis.

Its new fast freight train running on passenger schedule and drawn by a passenger locomotive leaves St. Louis after the close of business at 5:30 and races 400 miles to Pine Bluff in ten hours. Before noon it is in Shreveport, 590 miles distant.

At each of the seven points where stops are made a fleet of trucks awaits the train. This coördination of train and trucks makes it possible for goods sold in St. Louis one day to be ready for sale in Memphis or cities in Missouri, Arkansas and Louisiana the morning of the following day.

IN passenger service on the Boston & Albany, Boosters serve in a dual capacity. Between Boston and Springfield, the Booster smooths out the starting of eight well-known through trains. Their extra power eliminates the need of taking slack. It also speeds up acceleration to road speeds, saving time on every run.

In crossing the Berkshires, the Booster is available for an additional duty. When grades become steep and speeds drop, the Booster is cut in, its extra power maintaining speed that could otherwise be obtained only by the use of a more powerful locomotive. Regardless of the topography of the territory your road traverses, there is need for economical power such as the Booster supplies.

Through 274 Miles of Rugged Mountains

THE EMPIRE BUILDER USES THE BOOSTER

BETWEEN Whitefish, Montana and Spokane, Washington, The Great Northern uses Booster-equipped locomotives to haul their premier passenger train, "The Empire Builder" through 274 miles of rugged mountain country.

On steep grades, the speed of this de Luxe train is maintained by cutting-in the Booster with its thousands of pounds of extra tractive effort. Smooth starts are made without annoying jerks even when the train must be stopped on a grade. Rapid acceleration also obtained is an aid in maintaining schedules.

THE LOCOMOTIVE BOOSTER

In all classes of passenger service whether in the mountains or in crossing the plains, the Booster-equipped locomotive adds to passenger comforts and wins the travellers' goodwill. This is gained without adding to operating costs, for Boosters capitalize idle weight and spare steam to bring economy of operation and maintenance to the railroads that use them.

AMONG them you find such famous trains as the "Overland Limited", the "Golden State", the "Cascade", the "Shasta" and the "Sunset Limited". On some trains, Booster equipped locomotives lend a helping hand only where grades are steep. On others, the full advantages of the Booster are used from one end of the road to the other.

The extra power of the Booster takes the jerk out of starting and adds to traveling comforts. It is an aid in handling heavy trains in mountain territory. Starting is easier--acceleration to road speeds is faster--higher speed is maintained on grades.

The Booster permits the design of locomotives to suit more exactly the work to be done. Savings in capital result--needless operating and maintenance expenses are avoided.

HOMESTEAKS, ten miles east of Butte, Montana marks the summit of the continental divide on the Northern Pacific. Over this spot, 6,356 feet above sea level, the North Coast Limited, east and west bound, is hauled by Booster equipped locomotives.

The Northern Pacific uses the Booster on 18 of its fast passenger engines to secure extra power for climbing steep grades, to assure smooth starting, and rapid acceleration to road speeds. The result is greater comfort to the traveler and on-time runs over the road.

Reserve power from the Booster is used only a small percentage of the time. But it is always available when needed. In the emergency, the Booster gives the effect of another pair of drivers.

—the GREATEST BALL I EVER PLAYED ....

"WHO said the new size ball was going to take ... out of golf?

If you play the right ball, you'll be farther off the tee than you ever were—and far deadlier on the putting green.

My record breaking 65 at the Miami Country Club during the opening 36 hole play of the international four ball matches on March 8th proves it.

The new high tension WILSON HOL-HI is the greatest ball I ever hit ... wind or no wind.

Off the tee it cracks like a rifle. Your shots are crisp and clean. On the fairway it sits up good and high, where you can get a clean hit. With this ball on fairway, rough or sand, there ... no such thing as a bad lie. And on the green ... goes right where you send it—true as a die.

My hunch is that before the season is much older you'll see practically all the crack shots playing this new high tension WILSON HOL-HI. They HAVE to—or we fellows who have got used to ... won't let 'em compete.

One thing I know. Regardless of whether you play the ... business man's in-and-out game, or take your golf seriously ... as sure as you're alive this great ball will take strokes off your game—and plenty."

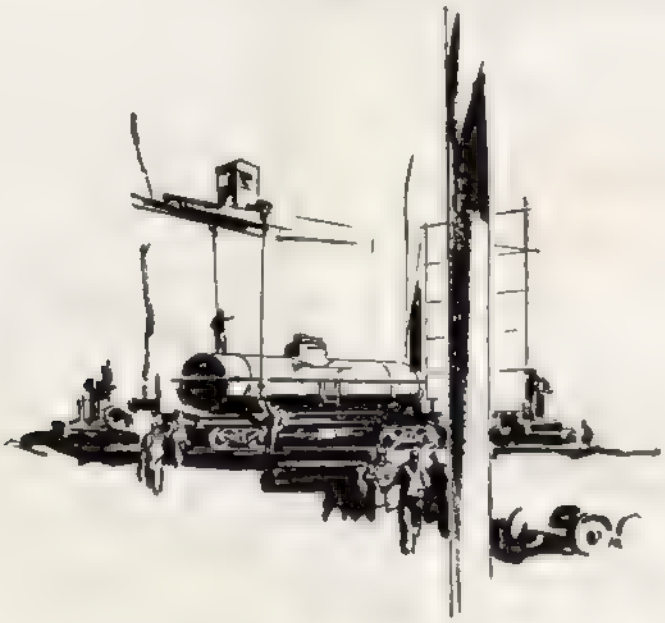
IN both of these tournaments, as well as in the Florida West Coast Open, where he established the lowest record ever made by any Pro with the new size ball (69-72-68-71—278) Gene Sarazen was playing the new WILSON HOL-HI.

This marvelous ball, because of a newly perfected Wilson method of moulding and winding the center under greatly increased tension, has made ... a ... little short of phenomenal and given ... his putting, deadly accuracy.

If you like a low score and really mean to improve your game you, too, will like the new WILSON HOL-HI.



32 YEARS
OF EXPERIENCE

A decade ago the oil industry depended upon the General American Tank Car Corporation for the solution of its transportation problems. Shippers came to it with their difficulties knowing they would be solved.

Today General American enjoys the same confidence. Throughout the intervening years it has always kept pace with the progress of the industry, developing a transportation service now the largest of its kind in the world.

Included in this service are a large fleet of tank cars, numbering many thousands, ten strategically located repair plants and an export terminal for the storage, handling and packaging of bulk liquids.

This enables you to get all the cars you want . . . of the particular kind you want . . . when and where you want them.

You may trust your transportation difficulties to General American with the feeling of confidence that comes only when dealing with an organization that has been tested day after day for thirty-two years.

Ten General American Repair Plants are maintained in addition to five district offices in:—New York, Los Angeles, Tulsa, Dallas and New Orleans. Head office: Chicago, Ill.

ELECTRIC TRAINS

The trains that make Boys' dreams come true

BOYS!

What is a railroad without BRIDGES?

Did you ever set up your Lionel train and with a couple of bridges? Isn't it a treat. Bridges make the railroad so realistic—they add so much to the fun. And, of course, you will need a few switches and accessories so that you can build a track layout that's up and down, just as a real railroad does when crossing mountainous country. There there should be a background of cotton to make a little realistic village. But why go on with all the story now? Send for the free Lionel Planning Book and ask Dad to give you a new bridge for your Lionel railroad and perhaps a few other accessories. The new Lionel catalogue shows the complete line of Lionel electric trains and model railroad accessories.

Here are the Lionel accessories as numbered in the picture

1. "Hell Gate" Bridge. Spans a realistic ravine. Has a double track for two trains at once.
2. Automatic Gateman. Realistic. Sold separately or with Lionel Electric Trains.
3. Bridge. Has a single track. Designed to be used in conjunction with other bridges.
4. Signal Shack. The set up crank operated signal shack. Can be used with Lionel Electric Trains or with hand operated trains.

HAS YOUR PLANT LOCATION A FUTURE?

TWO factors highly essential to the stabilization of business are strategy and optimism. Manufacturers who find their plants today so strategically placed that location is a strong factor in economical production and distribution are facing the future with real optimism.

Plant location necessitates a very careful study and analyzation of production and distribution costs. Unbiased knowledge of many sections is available from the staff of the Agricultural and Industrial Department of the Norfolk and Western Railway. This department has at its command facts on industrial and agricultural conditions in every locality and community served by the Norfolk and Western. Complete information as to natural resources, raw materials and labor supply, water, fuel, power and markets; agricultural conditions, soil and dairy production, poultry raising and livestock is also available.

In the states of Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, North Carolina and Maryland, along the lines of the Norfolk and Western, are vast supplies of diversified raw materials, intelligent, economic labor, favorable climate, America's largest bituminous coal fields, abundant supplies of hydro-electric power, unsurpassed rail facilities, favorable taxes, and the lowest possible production costs. Fertile farm lands may be had at reasonable prices; old colonial estates may be purchased as well as livestock and dairy farms, orchard land and land suitable for general fruit production. All the foregoing are close to the largest consuming markets and are served by highly developed rail facilities.

Inquiries will have detailed and careful attention.

MODERN FACILITIES FOR MARKETING LIVESTOCK

THE great livestock markets of today and the good condition of thousands of animals that arrive daily are, to a great extent, a result of the practical study and dependable service provided by the American railways. Two factors are of major importance—speedy and safe transportation of livestock to market—and prompt movement of dressed meats to the great consuming areas.

In serving the livestock regions along its line, the Norfolk and Western Railway uses extraordinary care in providing adequate and proper equipment. Its rules—unlike those of unregulated forms of transportation—are rigid and are based upon the research work of both the federal government and the railway and upon the railway's wide experience in loading, feeding and resting in transit.

Norfolk and Western freight schedules are at all times dependable; connections must be met without fail when livestock moves. Overloading, in the slightest degree, is not permitted. The stockyards along the Norfolk and Western are commodious, are built for the comfort of the animals and are strategically located. Loading and re-loading are supervised with great care to insure against injury. Thus, shipments of livestock arrive on the markets in saleable condition. Furthermore, the livestock contract, under which all shipments are made, protects the shipper in far greater degree than if he shipped via any other mode of transportation.

The Norfolk and Western Railway has, approximately, 1,500 livestock cars in A-1 condition—strongly built with steel underframes and designed to provide a maximum of light, air and comfort for animals enroute. Powerful locomotives, heavy steel rail laid on a well-ballasted roadbed and a complete system of automatic electric signals insure your livestock getting to market "on time."

Freight Traffic Department representatives of the Norfolk and Western Railway in important centers throughout the nation, from New York to San Francisco, will welcome an opportunity to inform you as to the railway's modern facilities and services.

CO-OPERATING with the soil

IN ancient days the tiller of the soil scratched up a plot—planted his seed—and poured out libations to Isis and Osiris, Odin or Wotan, or to Ceres. His principal concern was to get water to his growing crop. Gradually a knowledge of acreculture, or agriculture, produced better yields and improved strains of seed. With increased knowledge, man learned to co-operate with the soil—to put back into it a part of what it expended in the energy of production, by adding plant food in the form of fertilizers.

Fertilizers are of varied contents, depending upon the character of the soil on which they are to be used and the crop they are to benefit. The three principal plant foods added to the soil in the form of fertilizers are nitrogen, phosphorus and potash.

Though commercial fertilizers are manufactured at many points along the line of the Norfolk and Western Railway—Norfolk, Va., with 22 large plants, ranks first in fertilizer production. The average yearly output of these plants approximates 400,000 tons, or about 20,000 carloads. Yet this unromantic product contains materials from such distant lands as the Arctic and Antarctic, Germany, France and Spain, Chile, Peru, Bolivia and Venezuela, Asia and Africa. Even the burlap for bags, in which fertilizer is usually shipped, comes from India.

The assembling of raw materials at fertilizer plants requires great space—systematic storage and handling for accessibility and economical production. At Port plants, such as at Norfolk, the Norfolk and Western provides direct ship-to-car facilities and effectively co-operates with fertilizer manufacturers and distributors in economical methods of loading, adequate and varied equipment and fast, dependable schedules.

Norfolk and Western Freight Traffic Department representatives at strategic points throughout the nation, and the railway's Industrial and Agricultural Department, at Roanoke, Va., will welcome opportunity to inform you as to points of fertilizer manufacture and distribution, or its varied and practical uses. Similar reliable information is available on many other products and commodities.

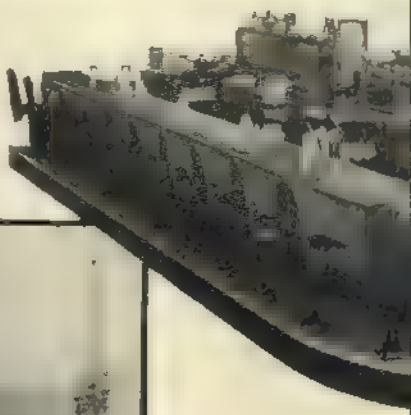
A Soda Fountain

Another of a Series on How to Bring More Traffic Into Hardware Stores



Note the modernistic style of architecture used on the front of the new American Avenue Hardware Company store

IN an article in our last issue we told you of the importance of bringing traffic into the hardware store. We said it is one of the hardware dealer's pressing problems, and that there are many ways and means of bringing traffic into the store.

This article tells you of a hardware firm, the American Avenue Hardware Company, Long Beach, California, that has hit upon a novel method of bringing traffic into its store. It did it by building a soda fountain in its new store. In addition, of course, this firm does a number of other aggressive things to keep people coming into the store.

Although now a number of hardware stores have well-appointed lunch counters and soda fountains, the American Avenue Hardware Company was one of the first, and with them it is an old idea.

"Our organization had considered the fountain idea for 15 years," said Roy W. Orris, president of the corporation, "but until now we had never had a location suitable in which to try the innovation.

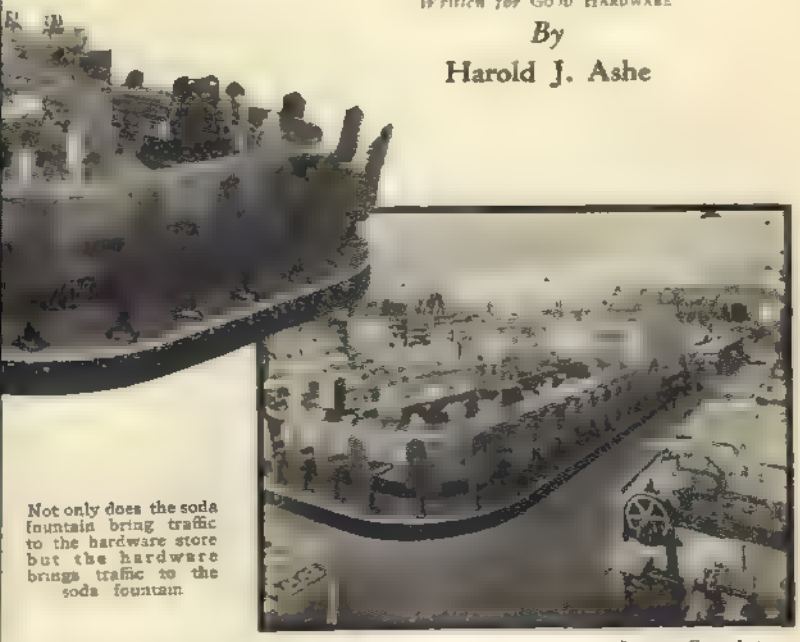
"The idea back of the fountain installation is purely one of bringing more traffic into the store. We feel that if we can get more people moving into the store we will be able to make at least a few extra sales we would not otherwise get.

Brings Them Traffic

Written for Good Hardware

By

Harold J. Ashe



Not only does the soda fountain bring traffic to the hardware store but the hardware brings traffic to the soda fountain

"During the first three days we discovered that not only does the fountain bring business to the hardware departments but also that the hardware departments bring some business to the fountain. Each acts as a feeder to the other. The first day about 500 checks were handled at the fountain, some of which represented two or three persons, giving some idea of the opening-day volume.

"The fountain is under the separate management of a lady caterer. She is fully responsible for her department, including the hiring of employes, and the buying. At present she works on a straight salary, though this may be revised some time in the future.

"The fountain is fully charged for its share of overhead, such as lights, rent, et cetera, so that if it shows a profit, we will know it is a real profit made after all charges have been deducted. While we expect the fountain to aid our hardware sales, we do not have any thought of subsidizing it for that purpose."

The fountain is located within a few steps of the front door, so that customers do not have to walk the length of the store to get service. Yet at the same time it takes them well enough into the store to bring them within sight of a large part of the stock on display, particularly household items.

Santa Claus-

A Person? Sure—But It's a Place, Too, and This Little Story Shows How An Enterprising Individual is Capitalizing It

The Post Office at Santa Claus

SANTA CLAUS, INDIANA

MOST of us think of Santa Claus as a person—a big, fat, jolly, old soul, who rides in a sleigh drawn by reindeers. He came down chimneys and left toys for good little boys and girls the night before Christmas.

Now we find that Santa Claus is also a place. Santa Claus, Indiana, nestles among the hills of Spencer County, one hundred and sixty-five miles southwest of Indianapolis. The population is about sixty people—hardly over a dozen families and they are spread over quite an area. To say that it is just a bit off the beaten path presents the facts in a more or less modified form. It is a cross roads place in the fullest sense of the word but in front of the general store hangs a sign which reads "Post Office, Santa Claus, Indiana." If the Indiana part was omitted the "Santa Claus" would still maintain the distinction of being the only one of its kind in the world. Many who read this and thousands of others have never heard of Santa Claus, Indiana, although there has been a post-office there for over thirty years.

The present postmaster has combined the duties of that office with those of operating the general store since 1916. It had no publicity department, real estate board, Chamber of Commerce or luncheon clubs to further the interests of the community. The folks were contented and satisfied, so front page articles in newspapers carried no Santa Claus date line.

Several years ago Wm Herschell, feature writer of the Indianapolis News, wrote a half page about the town.

Almost as Dreary as the North Pole Home of Santa. Two Views of Santa Claus, Indiana

STANLEY C. HILL

and other writers have since given it quite a little publicity in leading magazines and newspapers.

Very little mail passed through the Santa Claus postoffice up to that time, but now it's different. Hundreds of people have looked it up on the map and the amount of mail coming in to that office last Christmas was almost unbelievable. Most of it goes to the dead letter office, but from the requests the postmaster receives personally, one marvels how he could maintain anything like an affable disposition. Probably the amusing mail offsets the aggravating kind with 51% on the humorous side.

A postmaster is a government employee and in this case also a general store keeper, not a real for sure Santa Claus, who can fill all the wants, whims and desires of humanity. If he had nothing else to do, time and expense would not permit and neither would postal regulations.

The letters are from persons of all ages and walks of life. Some tell all the family secrets and not all are from youthful believers. A lonesome widow in Dallas wanted Santa Claus to find her a man who would treat her good and she'd go fifty-fifty with him. A lady in Altoona, Pennsylvania, wrote "Our Bobby wants a baby sister but that is impossible this Christmas. For your benefit, she's on the way and will arrive next May. Will you please write Bobby you'll bring her next year?" She closed by saying, "Hope with me that it will be a sister."

Here are the directions a boy gave for getting to his house Christmas eve. "You will have to come from Santa Claus, Indiana, to Table Rock, Arkansas. First you go east, then south, then east, then south, then east, then south, then turn east. You go past many houses out in the country. I live three miles out in the country." And then he drew a diagram, and our word for it—the road jogged.

In fact, many letters contained drawings and pictures cut out of magazines, newspapers and catalogs showing the particular kind of toy the sender desired. Minute detailed descriptions, which sometimes took several pages of almost unintelligible childish writing, were common.

A large percentage gave their age, sent love and kisses and some said they would "leave food on the table for you, dear old Santa." The selfish and unselfish children are easily distinguishable by their letters as are the spoiled and unspoiled, the rich and the poor. Some want everything known to the toy trade. Others would like a warm pair of mittens and some stockings. It was a rare privilege to read some of that mail which the postmaster had received.

Fortunately there were letters from a few grown ups who offered to provide for the less fortunate children and Santa Claus Workshops, Inc., has acted in the capacity of a clearing house in several instances where it was within regulations to do so.

Santa Claus Workshops, Inc., is a comparatively new concern, doing a mail order toy business at Santa Claus. They are advertising nationally and orders are all mailed from Santa Claus, Indiana, in attractive packages directed to the youthful recipient, with the facsimile of Santa Claus in his workshop on every label.

What could be a more logical place for Santa Claus Workshops than at Santa Claus, Indiana, and certain it is that many children will get the thrill of their lives when they receive the gifts which their juvenile faith leads them to believe came direct from their beloved Santa.

The Santa Claus Workshops, Inc., is the brain child of Stanley C. Hill, who knows what playthings appeal to children. He has three of his own. He has selected an attractive line of dolls, doll furniture, toy stoves, toy-toaster, playroom furniture for girls; and for the boys, a fascinating group of wheel goods and games, etc.

They mail out an attractive folder on all inquiries. We are looking forward with interest to the result, adding, of course, our best wishes for the success of what we deem a worthy and unique enterprise.

"92c. Each"

JULIUS ALTMAN, Toy Buyer for Gimbel Bros. in Pittsburgh, employed a novel appeal to usher in his Christmas toy department this year. "92c Each" was the featured "copy" in a full-page advertisement that appeared in the Pittsburgh papers. Forty toy items were shown in this ad and beneath each three lines of descriptive matter pointed out the salient feature of the toy and again emphasized the fact that it could be bought for 92c.

Clearing outfits, wagons, desk blackboards, holster-and-gun sets, puzzles, table tennis sets, sewing machines, tractors, pool tables, tea sets, sleds, roller skates, steam shovels, pianos, mechanical trains and Parcheesi were but a few of the items featured. At the left of the page a large chimney was reproduced, with youngsters crowding around the fireplace at the bottom, and arrows on the chimney together with the words, "Up the big chimney to Gimbel's sale of toys—Santa Claus express elevator to sixth floor."

With so much attention being paid this year to price, this is excellent advertising "copy." This ad is a virtual catalog of the high-spots, all of which can be bought for less than $1.00. While it may not be particularly intriguing to the youngsters, it nevertheless is vitally important to grown-ups, who hold the purse-strings.

THE MIGHTY WAGNER CHASSIS

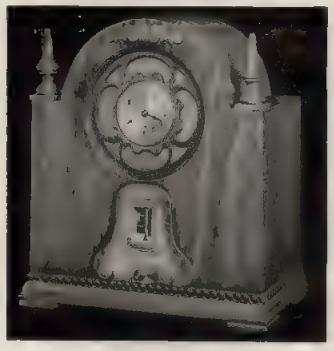
Technical Description

The Wagner Radio is a perfectly synchronized, high powered, high gain receiver of great selectivity—combining linear power detection, balanced screen grid circuit, power amplifier, electro dynamic speaker and sturdy "battleship" construction that maintains absolute rigidity and hairline uni-balance. The chassis pictured above is used in both the Concerto and Anniversary models. The Wagner uses eight Radiotrons—three 224 screen grid tubes, two 227 tubes, two 245 tubes and one 280 full wave rectifier tube. The screen grid tubes are used in three stages of sharply tuned radio frequency amplification. There are four tuning condensers built as a single balanced unit, precisely matched, exactly resonant at all wavelengths. The four condensers are shielded one from each other, and as a whole, from the balance of the set. Two 245 tubes are connected in push-pull, giving an enormous amplification factor. The output is perfectly matched to the super-dynamic speaker. One single illuminated dial to tune.

WAGNER RADIO was first with super-power—first with the perfected screen grid circuits that give balanced tone and amazing reserve power. Now Wagner announces its greatest development of all—the new mighty Wagner with tone control. The new Wagner uses eight tubes with even more power than the 9-tube Wagner of last season. New power from the linear power detector, the push-pull power amplifier, the patented, balanced circuits incorporating the newest refinements.

Everything you want in a radio—everything that radio can give you—is now offered in the new Wagner. The new Wagner models have a tremendous new power to pick and select the station and program you want, and reproduce speech and music with a living, vital realness that never before was thought possible. No hum! No background of noises or distortion! Nothing but the pure joy and pleasure of listening to the best programs on the air reproduced by the new Wagner, without distortion and without over-emphasis on the higher or lower notes. All this as the result of the newest perfected screen grid balanced circuit and the amazing new personal tone control. Such rare fidelity of tone comes from special balanced circuits and the careful matching and balancing of the smallest parts used.

The Wagner Anniversary model illustrated at the left is housed in an exquisite Walnut lowboy console cabinet with five-ply top and three-ply sides, with all the rich beauty of the natural grain brought out by the careful matching of the woods and the soft hand rubbed finish. The set includes the power dynamic speaker built in, scientifically baffled and matched to the output of the set. If you order the Wagner complete with tubes, we furnish genuine RCA Radiotrons, the best on the market. The mighty Wagner is for operation direct from any light socket of 100-120 volt, 50-60 cycle alternating current.



THE WAGNER MINUET

With or Without Clock

New!! The most wonderful little radio ever built. Highest Wagner quality in every part, in a wonderfully attractive little cabinet with a built-in electric clock. This set contains a special 6-tube Wagner screen grid all-electric radio chassis which operates direct from light socket. Measures only 17⅝ inches high, 15⅛ inches wide, 8½ inches deep. Weighs 20 lbs. complete with clock and tubes inside. The cabinet is beautiful selected Walnut with Burl Walnut control panel—one single illuminated dial to tune, with special control knob to control the volume loud or soft. Can be used with any short length of wire as an aerial or with a large outside aerial if desired—you can carry it with you, play it wherever there is 110-volt, 60-cycle alternating current handy.

Uses six Radiotron tubes—one 224 screen grid tube, three 227 tubes, one 245 power tube and one 280 full wave rectifier tube. Has three tuning condensers, is sensitive and selective, with a great reserve of power to give perfect reception under all operating conditions. Behind the electric clock is a large electro dynamic power speaker which preserves all the beauty and color of the original tone as broadcast. No hum or distortion; the tone is REAL and lifelike, in true pitch, balance and clear. The electric clock operates on 60-cycle alternating current of 110 to 120 volts. DIETZ LANTERNS

DIETZ HOT BLAST

For Kerosene

Hot Blast tubular lanterns are so constructed that fresh air enters the globe at the base through the perforated globe-plate. The fresh air becomes heated and is partly burned. It rises through the globe, mixed with spent gases of combustion and a portion is gathered into the canopy or inverted funnel over the globe and then is drawn down through the side tubes by suction, to be again discharged into the flame

Special Features—Dietz security standing bail; patent brass eyelets; patent safety burner, patent positive-locking globe lift; large oil filler with non-loseable cap; double seamed solderless oil fount

DIETZ COLD BLAST

For Kerosene

Fresh air only is fed to the flame at the wick; all spent or burned air is expelled absolutely from the lantern and is not re-circulated again as it is in "Hot Blast" lantern. The candle power of this light is double that obtained from any "Hot Blast" lantern

DYNAMITE

Note—Dynamite is not carried in stock but is shipped from nearest magazine by Freight only; cannot be packed with other goods nor can it be shipped by parcel post, boat or express.

Dynamite and Powder can be shipped together, but under no circumstances can they be shipped with Dynamite Caps, Electric Blasting Caps or any other goods.

Dynamite takes Double First Class Rates. Dynamite in lots of 200 pounds and over will be shipped Freight Prepaid; less than 200 pounds, F. O. B. nearest distributing point.

RED CROSS EXTRA DYNAMITE

Low Freezing

Not so quick or shattering in its action as straight dynamite, but has more of a heaving and lifting effect. Admirably suited to work in soft rock, in hard rock where it is not desirable to shatter the material, and in sand, clay and earth excavation of every kind. It works extremely well in mining soft ore where there is not much water. Can be used in close work with much more comfort than straight dynamite, as the fumes are not so objectionable. It is an all-year-round explosive for general purposes. When used in wet bore holes, however, the cartridge wrappers should not be cut or broken and the charge should not be left too long in the water.

BLASTING POWDER

Note—Blasting Powder is not carried in stock but is shipped from nearest magazine by Freight only; cannot be packed with other goods nor can it be shipped by parcel post, boat or express.

DU PONT

"B" Grade

Made of charcoal, sulphur and sodium nitrate, glazed over with graphite. The smooth surface thus obtained causes the powder to flow freely and pack tightly in the bore holes. All granulations have same strength, difference in size determining difference in action, the finer the grain the speedier the action; finer granulations, therefore, shatter more than coarser ones.

Recommended for use in mining, quarrying and excavating where a heaving rather than a shattering force is desired and the material is to be broken into large pieces.

Length of shell 1¾ inch; caliber of shell .273 inch; well insulated; copper wires.

Fired or exploded by an electric current produced by a blasting machine, instead of a fuse.

The wires vary in length to suit different depths of bore holes and different classes of work. They must always be long enough to reach a few inches out of the bore hole and should preferably be long enough to reach the wires of the adjoining bore holes.

They are so constructed as to be highly satisfactory for moist and wet work, but not intended for use under great heads of water, or for submarine work.

HANDLING AND SHIPPING HIGH EXPLOSIVES

Dynamite and Blasting Powder, when handled with ordinary care and at ordinary temperatures, may be safely shipped by railroad, hauled about in wagons and handled as ordinary merchandise. When so handled, practically the only danger of explosion is from lightning or from a bullet.

The railroads handle Dynamite and Powder the same as any other merchandise. It is contrary to law to ship Dynamite or Powder by any train, boat or other public conveyance that carries passengers. Explosives cannot be shipped by express. Dynamite is shipped in wood boxes, the contents packed in sawdust. Black Powder is shipped in steel kegs.

Note—We positively cannot ship Dynamite or Blasting Powder with hardware or other goods. In all cases where such are entered on order with hardware, we will ship direct from nearest magazine.

Blasting Caps cannot be shipped with Dynamite, but must go as separate shipment.

BLASTING MACHINES

No. 2

No. 3

Push-Down Type

Blasting Machines are small portable dynamos mounted in a box. The armature of the dynamo is rotated by a downward thrust of rack bar. This converts muscular force into electrical energy.

During the operation, the electric current is short-circuited through the field magnets for the purpose of building up, intensifying and storing the current until the end of the rack bar stroke, when the entire accumulation of current is delivered to the circuit.

All Du Pont Blasting Machines are securely boxed for shipment. The shipping boxes make excellent containers for storing and protecting blasting machines when they are not in use.

No. 2 Blasting Machine

No. 2—Generally used in stump and boulder blasting, for springing bore holes on large work, and for mining where it is desired to fire more than three electric blasting caps at a time. It is strongly made, weighs 15 pounds, and has a capacity of ten electric blasting caps with copper wires, or seven electric blasting caps with iron wires .....Each $36.00

No. 3 Blasting Machine

Due to its small size this blasting machine can be easily carried and operated with satisfactory results. It is suitable for all general blasting operations, where a larger blasting machine is not necessary, and even where a smaller one, except the pocket blasting machine, will do the work. It is small enough to be carried easily, and yet is strong enough for anything except the largest blasts

No. 3—For quarry and mine work. It has a capacity of thirty electric blasting caps with copper wires and weighs 25 pounds.....Each $60.00

No. 3A Blasting Machine

No. 3A A machine of recent design which has a capacity of fifty electric blasting caps with copper wires, yet weighs only 23 pounds. It is recommended for all general blasting operations.....Each $70.00

HEATING AND VENTILATION DATA

HELPFUL SUGGESTIONS

In order to counteract the quite general impression that it is difficult to figure the average exhaust fan installation we believe the following information will clearly indicate there is no reason to assume that ventilating problems are at all complicated.

If a five-minute air change is desired, or to change the air in a room every five minutes, all that is necessary to do is to figure up the cubical contents of the room by multiplying the length, width, and height. After getting the cubical contents, divide the same by five, which gives you the amount of air a fan should handle

As an example Take a room 100 ft. long, 28 ft. wide, with a 14 ft. ceiling. By multiplying 100x28x14, it is found that the room contains 39,200 cubic ft. of air space. Dividing this by 5, equals 7000. This is the amount of air, namely, 7000 cubic ft., which a fan should handle to create a five-minute air change in the room.

By referring to our catalog, you can find the fan that has this capacity, or slightly more

Exhaust fans should always be placed at the directly opposite end of intake, so a complete circulation is created through entire room. All openings on same side of room where fan is placed should be kept closed.

Experience and past practice have taught that it is necessary to change the air at certain specified intervals, and the following data has been worked out:

Restaurant and Hotel Kitchens—Every two minutes.
Offices and Stores, depending on climate—Every five or ten minutes.
Workrooms and Factories—Every five or ten minutes.
Residence Kitchens—Every two minutes.
Garages—Every five to ten minutes.
Theatres Every two to five minutes.
Halls—Every five minutes.
Laundries—Every two to five minutes
Farm Barns—Every ten minutes

INDUSTRIAL SIGNALS

DIRECT CURRENT INDUSTRIAL HOWLERS

For multiple operation on direct current only and may be employed on circuits as high as 250 volts. Standard voltage is 110 volts, D.C., but any voltage from 6 to 250 D.C. inclusive may be specified at an advance of 50c each list. Specify voltage when ordering.

When six or eight D.C. howlers are to be used on one circuit, not less than 88 volts should be used.

Sounding mechanism is of the vibrator type with oversize make-and-break contact points of silver. An especially constructed condenser across contact points prevents arcing.

Vibrator springs are mounted independently of the armature.

Adjustment of tone volume and pitch of note is made by turning an adjustment screw, which is self-locking so vibrations will not jar it loose.

Heavy Duty Weatherproof

Cast iron body, with two mounting lugs, tapped for ¾ in. pipe connection. One-piece, drawn brass bell type sound projector or 14 in. conical projector is rigidly attached to a pressed steel cover A gasket between cover and body makes it weatherproof. Baked black enamel finish.

ALTERNATING CURRENT INDUSTRIAL HOWLERS

May be operated on multiple or series circuits, or in connection with vibrator or single-stroke gongs or other electrical signal equipment. When used in series with other electrical devices, special windings are furnished which allow passage of sufficient current to operate other devices on the same line. A 10% variation in voltage does not affect the satisfactory working of howler. Sounding mechanism is of the vibrator type. Vibrations result from alternating current cycles, no make and break contacts required, no adjustments needed, and signal will operate continuously without attention.

Standard voltage is 110 volts A.C., but any voltage from 6 to 250 A.C. may be specified at an advance of 50c each, list. Specify voltage on orders.

*HOSE RACKS

BOWES

For Unlined Linen Hose, with Cover

Fig B-2057

Racks consist of a tubular arm on which cycletted pins are slidably mounted. The upper ends of the pins are designed to fit in a channel parallel to the lower arm, thus supporting the folded hose. This gives a positive support, the pressure is equal on both arms, prevents pinching of the hose and absolutely holds it in place until the hose is withdrawn at the open end, the pins remaining on the extension arm. Cover which protects the hose is formed from one piece of heavy sheet steel, firmly joined to malleable iron back.

Finished in aluminum or gold bronze.

Note—We can furnish semi-automatic racks of same type as above. Prices on application.

WHEELER INDUSTRIAL REFLECTORS

Embodying many exclusive constructions, Wheeler Industrial Reflectors provide a complete line for every purpose. They are made of Armco Ingot Iron, with white porcelain enameled reflecting surfaces. Exterior finish is green porcelain enamel except when otherwise stated.

R. L. M. STANDARD DOME REFLECTOR

("H" Group)

This shape is the Reflector and Lamp Mfrs. standard dome for general industrial illumination. The contours and efficiency of this reflector are kept standard by a rigid inspection by the Electrical Testing Laboratories that assures standard performance and quality. Only reflectors bearing the above R. L. M. label carry this guarantee of service. The R. L. M. standard dome reflector allows a cut-off of 17½ degrees below the filament center, which gives a wide light distribution with an avoidance of concentration of light directly below the unit. Glare is eliminated, affording eye protection. Shadows are minimized.

STANDARD ANGLE REFLECTORS

("N" Group)

The standard angle reflector hangs perpendicularly with the shirt of the reflector tilted at an angle of 30 degrees. It is used to project light over a plane that cannot be adequately illuminated by a unit hung directly above it. It is advisable for use over screw machines, milling machines, general automatic machines, lathes, drills and presses where vertical planes must be lighted from the side. It is also valuable for general factory illumination when high ceilings or moving cranes prevent overhead lighting.

One-Piece Canopy

A highly efficient unit for side lighting under conditions where overhead lighting cannot be employed. It is especially recommended for side lighting in factories, yards, platforms, skating rinks, tennis courts, bowling alleys, etc., where its rugged construction and wide light distribution combine excellently to meet difficult requirements. Threaded for ½ in. iron pipe.

Pipe leads straight into canopy from top of board. Easy to wire. Porcelain socket shell screws off easily, exposing contact screws for wiring. Canopies threaded for ½ in. pipe. Reflectors finished green outside with white reflecting planes.

DURATACH REFLECTORS

Reflector and lamp off as one piece. Quickly put up—it takes down, offers a greater convenience in wiring than has ever been known before. A few quick turns—and reflector, socket shell and lamp are removed as a single unit. This feature avoids the handling of hot lamps and unnecessary handling of parts. It is not necessary to break the circuit when relamping Duratach reflectors, either medium or mogul base, as circuit is broken in socket when reflector is removed from canopy.

Without disturbing the wiring of the original installation, Duratach medium or mogul base fixtures may be easily interchanged by merely screwing into any Duratach canopy any Duratach reflector of the same or other design. This allows extreme flexibility of lighting equipment.

In Early CHRISTMAS DISPLAYS

Check-Up in New York's Big Stores Finds Many Innovations—All Buyers Anticipate Big Season

AS we go to press for December, we find that the majority of the stores in New York City have their Christmas toy departments operating full blast and with few exceptions good old Saint Nicholas is on the scene.

It is too early to give any report on the amount of business being done but from observation and talks with several buyers, it looks very much as though this Christmas will take its place among the best of previous years.

A representative of PLAYTHINGS has made a brief survey of the toy departments taking note of the reaction of the customers and the high spots of the Christmas departments

The toy department at Lord and Taylor's is as usual quite attractive and is located on the ninth floor of the store. The entrance of the department is decorated with figures of giraffes and soldiers. The windows on the doors of the elevator shafts have been painted in a variety of pleasing colors. Along the beams of the ceiling may be seen neat red signs directing the customers to the various sections of the department. Just to add a little more color to the setting half the clerks are attired in red smocks and the remainder in green. A large room has been utilized to show the kiddies movies and the Keystone 16 mm. projection machine is used to show the films. A very attractive Lamkin nursery scene, with a nurse in attendance, has also caused a great deal of favorable comment. Santa Claus is seen in a room filled with toys of interest to the girls and boys. In this room is a small stage and when the curtains are drawn back Santa is seen in his sleigh filled with toys and snow is falling about him.

Miss Murphy, toy buyer, says, "On the day we opened our department our sales were one hundred dollars ahead of last year. We feel that this is a good sign as the opening this year was informal and without Santa Claus, while last year's opening featured him. Our formal opening this year did not take place until one week later and business that day was very good. Our toy department contains a large stock of low priced toys, as indications during the year pointed to the fact that the majority of the sales would be made in this class of toys. However, I was very much surprised that on the opening day we had a large demand for high priced toys. I believe if it ever gets cold enough we will see some good business." (Ed. note: for the past two weeks the temperature in New York City has maintained an average of over seventy degrees, the warmest it has ever been in the history of the weather bureau.)

Lord and Taylor's have been far-sighted enough to see that there would be a demand for adult games this Christmas and have arranged a very catching window in the lobby of the store featuring adult games

We have paid several visits to the toy department at McCreery's and on all occasions the department showed considerable activity. This year the toy department occupies three quarters of the sixth floor and is very attractively arranged. Over all the lighting fixtures are hung big bass drums which tend to throw a soft mellow light over the department. Santa Claus is on hand to greet the children and to each child that talks with him he gives a beautiful book with pictures to color and puzzles to solve. The surprise package is used quite effectively here; twenty-five cents is given to a girl attired in a clown suit and a clown at the top of a long slide puts a surprise package on it and shoots it down to another clown at the end of the slide, who in turn gives it to the child. This display is adjacent to Santa's throne so that after the child gets his surprise package he may see Santa Claus.

Toy buyer Sussman says, "I am very much pleased with the showing the department has made so far this season. We have had quite a lot of activity and sales have been good. I think that this Christmas will be as good as any we have had heretofore. I have also noticed that the demand for high priced toys has been rather strong and that is rather encouraging."

The doll section is very attractive and well planned and all the clerks in the section in which baby dolls are found are dressed in nurses' uniforms

A "Gorgeous" Department

The toy department of B. Altman and Company is located on the eighth floor. The only adjective to be used in describing this department is gorgeous, for it is truly that. The counters in the middle of the department are painted in various color schemes using yellow, blue and green as the basic colors. On each counter is a small Christmas tree appropriately trimmed for the holiday season. The columns of the department are stained walnut flanged with silver, cut glass chandeliers have been placed in the four corners of the pillar indented in the recesses. There are a number of small rooms off the large one and in each of these rooms there is featured a different type of toy. In one room may be seen a display of Minnie and Mickey Mouse, another room features baby dolls, another puzzles and still more feature steel toys, trousseaux, juvenile books and a pre-school department. This pre-school or kindergarten department is one of the most complete and attractive kindergarten departments in New York City. All of the woodwork in this room is finished in mahogany as are the three show cases, the fourth side of the room is open and hung with drapes and a large semi-circular latticed window is opposite the entrance to the room. Everything that a kindergarten child could wish or want is to be found in this room. Santa will not arrive until after Thanksgiving and incidentally this is the first year he has stopped at Altman's. Carpenters were busy, at the time this story was written, building a majestic throne for the king of toys. The background of the throne will be a blue strip running the full width of the department upon which will be seen thousands of stars.

Santa hasn't arrived at Macy's yet; that is at the time this article was written, but signs all over the store assured the kiddies that Santa wasn't far away and that he was due on Thanksgiving Day. In fact Macy's plan is to meet him up town at 109th Street on Thanksgiving day at 1:30 P.M. and give him a great big welcome and its no secret that they are planning a mammoth parade to herald his arrival.

The throne is in readiness for him to take possession and those in charge of erecting it have done a very good job. Santa's throne is covered with red and green velvet and on each side is two huge drums. A canopy of silver trimmed with red enshrowds the throne. Leading up to and past the throne is a walk fully fifty feet long. Thousands of stars on a blue background with hundreds of the most realistic burning candles set close to the walk add quite a lot of pomp to the setting. At the end of the walk is Santa's mail box in which the children may post their letters to the north pole. Adjacent to Santa's throne is Santa's fish pond where for the sum of forty-seven cents a permit is granted to the child which allows him to catch one fish. The scene is that of one familiar in the arctic regions. There are any number of huge icebergs, polar bears, penguins, walruses and seals are seen playing on and among the icebergs. The attendants are dressed as eskimos and everything bespeaks of the frigid north. After the child has made his catch he takes it to an igloo at the end of the walk and there it is redeemed for a surprise package. Needless to say this method of distributing surprise packages has met quite enthusiastically with the children. The walls of the department are striped in red, green and silver. All figures of toys, animals etc. have been left off as the Macy organization feels that it tends to distract from the display of toys.

Toyland—And Santaland

Gimbels toy department has maintained its original position on the fifth floor and is called toyland. Santaland, however, is on the sixth floor.

The toy department has increased to about twice its normal size. The lights in the department have been covered with snare drums and the effect is very pleasing. All of the aisles have been numbered and neat red signs repose on each pillar announcing the toys to be found in that section. The Sheffield Milk Wagon display is worthy of comment. A reproduction of a Sheffield Milk Wagon in actual size has been made and it is utilized as a display counter for the toy milk wagons.

Santaland is symbolic of the North Pole, there are a number of igloos in which are to be seen a variety of different toys. In one of these igloos resides Saint Nicholas. There are two entrances to this village, one you pay 25 cents at an igloo and receive a delightful gift and proceed through the rest of the igloos until you come to the last one in which Santa resides. The other entrance is for those who do not choose to receive the surprise package and they can go right along through all the igloos with the exception of the first. The background of this display features icebergs and glacial formations. In the front among the igloos are scattered a few toys.

Fannie Engel's Marionettes are on hand to give the children a treat with their many funny antics and little stories. A miniature house has been erected on the sixth floor and is utilized to display child's furniture.

Undoubtedly there is a very good reason for toy buyer Drelich putting his entertainment and Santa on a floor above the toy department and when we next call we shall find out the reason behind this move

The Stern toy department has moved to its location on the sixth floor of the store and as one alights from the elevator the first thing to greet the visitor are two large Christmas trees. Under one of these trees may be found articles for the girls such as dolls, bassinettes, stuffed toys, clowns, trousseaux and baby carriages. Quite naturally the other tree features toys of interest to the boys. A suit of armor, a treasure chest, soldiers, air rifles, toy trucks, and a most realistic looking cowboy outfit are to be found at the base of the tree. The pillars in the department are white striped with red, green and yellow streamers. Fastened on these streamers are wooden cut-outs of animals, birds, fishes, toys, and numbers. The wall of the department is decorated with balloons and stars. A feature in the department is a large Camelot Castle displaying sets of Camelot and Ping-Pong.

"Cashing In" on Their September Toy Fair

The Bloomingdale toy department under the direction of toy buyer Stern has been doing very nicely so far this season. Undoubtedly the good will established during the September toy fair is making itself felt, if one is to judge from the amount of sales and action noticed in their department. Santa Claus is shown in a toy village and in front of him is a large train filled with surprise packages which he presents to each child that has secured a fifty cent ticket. In some ways the Christmas department looks much like the toy fair. There is a booth featuring Keystone cameras and projection machines and the Piedmont display of children's furniture is attracting a great deal of attention from the visitors to the toy department. Every one of these articles of children's furniture has been copied from antiques and a number of the articles are being made exclusively for Bloomingdale's. There are quite a few displays featuring the Bloomingdale Baby which made such a hit last Christmas and from early reports, will more than equal last year's record in volume of sales.

The Christmas toy department at Wanamaker's occupies over three quarters of the first floor. Long streamers of holly are strung down the aisles attached at the corners of the pillars. At the end of each holly streamer there is a round tag which written upon it in Old English says, "Christmas Tradition in England—According to an ancient custom a deal of reveling was permitted from Christmas till twelfth night. Blazing and crackling fire of logs would give warmth—the embers remaining from the Yule log were carefully put away to light next year's fires. Green decorations of Bay and Holly, emblems of peace and gladness had a pleasing effect in producing fond associations and kindly benevolent sympathy. There is the old ceremony of serving up the Boar's head on Christmas day. Everything conspired to produce kind happy feelings of old fashioned hospitality. At Christmas be merry and thankful withal and feast thy good neighbors the great with the small," Wanamaker's 1931.

Extending from each pillar of the department are lighted drums, inscribed on each is a sign telling what toys are to be found in that specific section of the department.

A Fairy Tale village has been employed as the feature of the Christmas display. It would be too lengthy to describe it fully at this time, but we must say in all justice that it is very attractive and different. Santa Claus sits in the middle of the village and asks the children what they want for Christmas and just before they take leave of him he gives them a book in which there are pictures to color and puzzles to solve.

Another feature of the department is Edison Hall. This is situated in the middle of the department and contains electric engines, Ives and Lionel trains, Christmas tree lights and an assortment of mechanical toys. The display is very brilliantly lighted and reminds the visitor of the genius of the late Thomas Edison

Toy Buyer Finnerty says in commenting upon the early Christmas business, "Beyond all doubt we will beat November of last year. I am most optimistic about this Christmas, everything points to its being most favorable. Sales have been very good and we are well pleased with our early business. Our toys are arranged sectionally so that it is easy for a customer to find what he desires. In fact, a sales clerk with but an hour's experience in the department could tell a customer where to find any toy he or she might desire."

And so it seems that the toy buyers have faith in this Christmas and expect it to be up to other years. People are buying and the spirit of Christmas which has been smoldering deep within us has leaped to a flame and all is hustle and bustle to make this Christmas one of the greatest ever.

THE FAMOUS CAILLE LIBERTY DRIVE

The Motor that Will Drive a Boat Anywhere it Will Float

The predominating feature of the Caille Liberty motor is its patented direct drive and easy tilting. This involves a radical change in design and construction from the usual type of rowboat motors, and results in a power plant capable of doing things that no other rowboat motor can do. To be 100 per cent effective, all this wonderful motor needs is water enough to float the boat. Its advantages for certain types of navigation are obviously great, and most unusual.

The Liberty type is preferred by many users because of its proved ability to navigate obstructed waterways and to propel a boat in water only 6 or 8 in. deep, where vertical type motors are impractical.

Safeguarded against sunken obstructions.

The Liberty motor will drive your rowboat over shoals, shallows and sunken obstructions as though they never existed.

It has a balanced drive shaft which tilts both upwards and sideways. The guarded propeller rises gently over all sunken obstacles, and clears them easily. With this rowboat power plant, there is no danger in smashing or bumping into sunken logs or boulders—jabbing into sand or mud bottoms—nor troublesome tangling of blades in weeds and snags.

THE FAMOUS CAILLE LIBERTY DRIVE

The Motor that Will Drive a Boat Anywhere it Will Float

The predominating feature of the Caille Liberty motor is its patented direct drive and easy tilting. This involves a radical change in design and construction from the usual type of rowboat motors, and results in a power plant capable of doing things that no other rowboat motor can do. To be 100 per cent effective, all this wonderful motor needs is water enough to float the boat. Its advantages for certain types of navigation are obviously great, and most unusual.

The Liberty type is preferred by many users because of its proved ability to navigate obstructed waterways and to propel a boat in water only 6 or 8 in. deep, where vertical type motors are impractical.

Safeguarded against sunken obstructions.

The Liberty motor will drive your rowboat over shoals, shallows and sunken obstructions as though they never existed.

It has a balanced drive shaft which tilts both upwards and sideways. The guarded propeller rises gently over all sunken obstacles, and clears them easily. With this rowboat power plant, there [illegible] jarring or crashing or bumping into sunken logs or boulders—[illegible] into sand or mud bottoms—nor troublesome tangling of blades in weeds and snags.

Positively cannot be broken in such a way as to interfere with engine operation, and failure to fire is practically an impossibility. Their ability to withstand tremendous pressure and temperatures is combined with the ability to withstand a maximum amount of oil. Silliumanite is used in both the primary insulator and the protecting dome insulator. Its superior strength and wonderful ability to withstand heat stresses and electrical shocks not only insures maximum safety against breakage at the terminal end, but assures dependable ignition under all conditions at the firing end. Are of two-piece construction, new gas-tight copper gaskets and special analysis high compression electrodes insure a fixed spark gap.

COLD MOTORS

Certain motors have such an extreme tendency to foul spark plugs that we term them "oil pumpers," the cause of which is sometimes almost impossible to locate. In those cases we advise using a hotter type spark plug in preference to the one recommended for normal motors.

In every case of fouling, the motor should be checked over carefully to see if the cause can be rectified. This will give the owner greater satisfaction than attempting to meet the situation by simply using a hotter type of spark plug.

Conditions contributing to faulty ignition often resulting in fouled spark plugs.

Loose pistons	Faulty Rings
Faulty cables	Over choking
Low grade of oil	Poor gasoline
Weak ignition coil	Weak battery
Worn distributor points
Sticking valves and tappets.
Metallic dust in new engines
Improper carburetor adjustment

HOT MOTORS

If the engine overheats and spits back through the carburetor and lacks power at top speed, check for too lean a mixture, water circulation and setting of the valves. Overheating may be caused by continuous driving at top speed. Under these circumstances use a slightly cooler type of Champion plug than shown on the chart.

CHAMPION SPARK PLUGS

CHAMPION "C" TYPE

Sillimanite is nature's finest insulator and no other known substance can withstand the rapid temperature changes that insulators are subjected to in an improved spark plug of this type.

Through its use Champion alone is now able to offer three sets of spark plugs to service practically all passenger cars.

The illustration at the left shows the manner in which the lower end of the insulator projects beyond the shell directly into the firing chamber of motor and lets the gas stream in the combustion chamber. This means a single design spark plug to give perfect service in both the hottest and coldest motors in the passenger car line.

BLASTING MACHINES

DU PONT

Small, portable electric generators, built for generating current to fire electric blasting caps.

Operated by a rack bar or plunger protruding through the top of the machine. The bar is pulled up as far as possible and then forced down with a quick, hard thrust.

This sets in motion the armature and builds up the current until the bottom is reached, whereupon the connections are automatically completed and the current flows out through the leading wires to the electric blasting caps placed in the charges of explosive.

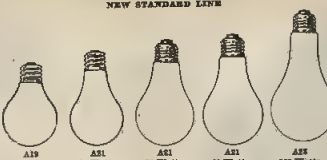
HYGRADE LAMPS

NEW STANDARD LINE



The following new lamps represent the latest development in incandescent lamp manufacture. Outstanding points of superiority over all other types are:

1. Easily Cleaned—The frosting is on the inside and the bulb therefore does not gather dirt.
2. Better Lighting—Splendid diffusion is obtained with such small loss of light that these lamps are to be used in place of all clear as well as frosted lamps.
3. Stronger—These lamps are much more rugged than the lamps they will supersede. Breakage will be appreciably less.
4. Attractive Appearance—The pearl-gray bulb is pleasing in appearance and harmonizes with any background color.
5. Simplified Stocks—Seven types replace more than forty old types and sizes in the 115 volt class.

The new Standard Line of lamp being superior to those they replace makes it a better merchandising product for the Dealer.

Being lower in price and more rugged than the replaced types, all clear and frosted lamps can be replaced with the new lamps which means that every socket is a prospect for Mr. Dealer.

Mr. Dealer can sell higher wattage lamps because inside frost cuts down glare.

Conserves Dealer's time and space because new line requires less shelf space, and simplifies inventory and accounting.

Substantially all the color effects required for decorative and display lighting in theatres, restaurants, signs, etc., can be produced by the colored and tinted lamps listed below. In the interest of lamp type simplification it is recommended that colored lamp demand be confined to these types.

Convenient slots are arranged for removable price tags. The famous Hygrade Triangle with appropriate caption, provides an eye-catching attractor or "Stop Signal." The Merchantman, Junior, quickly mounted, adaptable for any counter, is made of extra-durable, specially treated cardboard, lithographed in imitation of mahogany. Its cost to Hygrade dealers is only $1.00 postpaid.

The stand is 26 in. long, 5 in. high, 6 in. wide and comes complete with cord and standard plug. All the lamps can be lighted at one time or the light given by a single lamp can be shown by turning that particular lamp in its socket.

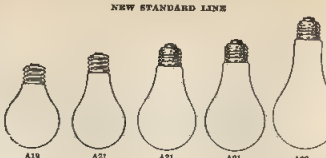
HYGRADE LAMPS

NEW STANDARD LINE



The following new lamps represent the latest development in Incandescent lamp manufacture. Outstanding points of superiority over all other types are:

1. Easily Cleaned—The frosting is on the inside and the bulb therefore does not gather dirt.

2. Better Lighting—Splendid diffusion is obtained with such small loss of light that these lamps are to be used in place of all clear as well as frosted lamps.

3. Stronger—These lamps are much more rugged than the lamps they will supersede. Breakage will be appreciably less.

4. Attractive Appearance—The pearl-gray bulb is pleasing in appearance and harmonizes with any background color.

5. Simplified Stocks—Seven types replace more than forty old types and sizes in the 115 volt class.

The new Standard Line of lamp being superior to those they replace makes it a better merchandising product for the Dealer.

Being lower in price and more rugged than the replaced types, all clear and frosted lamps can be replaced with the new lamps which means that every socket is a prospect for Mr. Dealer.

Mr. Dealer can sell higher wattage lamps because inside frost cuts down glare.

Conserves Dealer's time and space because new line requires less shelf space, and simplifies inventory and accounting

Flamestint, red, blue, green, yellow and amber-orange.

Substantially all the color effects required for decorative and display lighting in theatres, restaurants, signs, etc., can be produced by the colored and tinted lamps listed below. In the interest of lamp type simplification it is recommended that colored lamp demand be confined to these types.

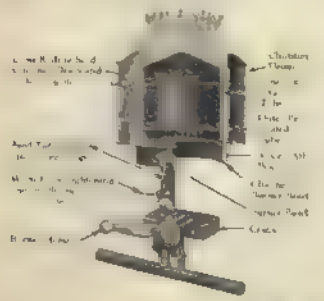
KEROSENE COOK STOVES

NESCO DELUXE

Nesco DeLuxe stoves and ranges are made of heavy sheet steel throughout—designed for grace and beauty, yet strongly substantial. Tops are reinforced with "U" bars welded to the underside. An extra shelf covers the glass tank and affords extra top space.

The highly finished, cold rolled steel is coated with Japan paint which is baked on at a temperature of 400 degrees, giving a durable and high gloss finish. Chimney drums are porcelain enameled.

On each leg is a leveling screw which may be turned up or down to lower or raise any one leg of the stove, thus making leveling easy. The dome shape gives a perfect rest in any position with no sharp edges to mar the floor. At the far end of the pipe line is an upright pipe and cup. When the kerosene is up to the level mark on the cup the stove is level for proper burning.



Two types of burners are used on Nesco DeLuxe stoves. The standard burners have Rockweave wicks 3⅛ in. in diameter. The Dubl-Hot burners have Rockweave wicks 6 in. in diameter. This means a much larger flame for greater cooking heat. The combustion principle, operation of raising and lowering [illegible] in both sizes.

[illegible] with a slotted rim and a flat perforated surface inside. On [illegible] Rockweave wick. At the front is attached [illegible] pipe.

[illegible] perforated tubes suspended within an enameled drum. [illegible] that there is perfect combustion with no smoke or odor when [illegible] properly seated.

When burner lifting handle is turned, the burner bowl containing the wick, and with the chimney assembled in place, is moved up or down. When burner is lowered, the oil flows into the burner bowl and [illegible] through the Rockweave wick where it is transformed into a gas and [illegible] the entire height of the perforated chimney tubes. Changing the position of the burner bowl changes the amount of oil that is burned. When burner is raised to its highest position the burner bowl is emptied of oil and the flame goes out.

KEROSENE COOK STOVES

NESCO DE LUXE RANGE MODELS

Oven doors are drawn from one piece of enameling steel and hand fitted to door frames, consequently doors are tight and there is no escape of heat and no cold air can enter to disturb the circulation of the heat. Doors are lined with ample air space to prevent loss of heat. A system of levers, toggle joints and springs is so arranged that when the door is in closed position the spring exerts maximum tension, eliminating the necessity of a top latch and insuring a tightly closed door. As the door is moved downward the tension of the spring is decreased so that in the lowered position the weight of the door holds it open. Spring is so placed that it is never in a heated zone. Hinges revolve on rollers and are noiseless and smooth in action.

In the ovens of all Nesco ranges there is a special double baffle plate—a side over each burner on which the flame strikes and spreads. Properly located holes—proper spacing between the two baffle plates and the tray above gives exact and correct circulation around the sides and ends up into the oven chamber to assure perfect baking.

WAHL-EVERSHARP Personal Point FOUNTAIN PENS

All pens listed here carry the "Wahl-Eversharp" lifetime guarantee of satisfaction.

"Wahl Eversharp" Streamline Fountain Pens are made in seven beautiful and lasting colors: Rosewood, Black, Green, Coral, Blue, the popular Black and Pearl, and the new and very striking Bronze and Green. They come in four sizes. Regulation thickness long with clip, short, or vest pocket size, with clip; ladies' size with ring for attaching to watch, and the oversize, long with clip. All are lever self-filers.

They are fitted with the finest quality 14K solid gold iridium tipped nibs.

Personal Points. An added feature of the Wahl-Eversharp line of fountain pens is the ability of the dealer to interchange points from one pen to another without disrobing the setting of the nib. This in itself is one of the best selling points of the line, for should a customer desire a point other than the one in the pen all that is necessary is to unscrew the desired point from another pen and interchange it into the one being purchased.

There are gold filled bands set in at one end of all caps. Clips, rings, bands, lever filler are all gold filled.

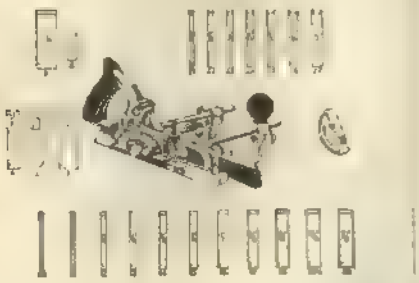
FANCY IRON PLANES

STANLEY, "FORTY-FIVE"



This well known and useful tool in reality combines seven planes in one in a compact and practical form. 1—Beading and center-beading plane. 2—Plow. 3—Dado. 4—Rabbet and filletster. 5—Match plane. 6—Sash plane. 7—Slitting plane.

It has three principal parts, a main stock, a sliding section and a fence or gauge.

The main stock carries the cutter, cutter adjustment, slitting tool, depth gauge, handle, and provides a bearing for one edge of the cutter.

The sliding section slides on two arms, secured in the main stock and provides a bearing for the other edge of the cutter, allowing cutters of different widths to be used.

The fence, which has a lateral adjustment for extra fine work, slides on these arms and is used when working the plane as a plow, beader or filletster, to gauge the distance from the cutter to the edge of the board. The arms slide through the main stock so that the fence can be attached to either side according as the plane is used right or left hand.

Two sets of arms are furnished, one set 4½ in. and the other 8¼ in. long. Longer arms can be furnished if desired.

Spurs for working across the grain are attached to the main stock and sliding section. They can be readily turned up out of the way when not required.

For beading at a distance from the edge of a board a metal cam is furnished to go on the front arm between the sliding section and fence. This will prevent the fence from sagging. This cam can also be attached to the rear arm for work where it is desirable to keep the plane from "rocking."

Twenty-three cutters are furnished with each plane as follows: 11 plow and dado, 7 beading, 1 filletster, 1 sash, 2 match and 1 slitting.

All metal parts are nickel plated. The handle, knob and fence are made of selected rosewood

	Each
No. 45—Wt. each 9¼ lbs.	$31.80

Special Bottoms for "Forty-five" Plane

In order to work hollows and rounds, or a nosing cutter in the No. 45 plane, it is necessary to substitute, for the sliding section, specially formed bottoms, which are called by the same name as the cutters they are designed to carry, that is: Hollows, rounds or nosing tools.

A hollow and its cutters will form a round on the moulding being worked. A round and its cutters will form a hollow. Hollows and rounds are made in four sizes and are usually sold in sets, a set comprising one hollow, one round and two cutters.

A nosing tool and its cutter will form an exact half round. It is very largely used for shaping the edges of stair treads. As in the hollows and rounds, the table gives the width of the cutter and the diameter of the circle, which the cutter is designed to work. The price of the nosing tool includes one cutter.

	Per pair
No. 6—Hollow and Round; ½ in. cutter; works circles ⅝ in.	$2.25
No. 8—Hollow and Round; ⅝ in. cutter; works circles 1 in.	2.25

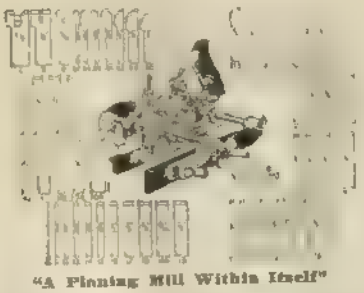
FANCY IRON PLANES

STANLEY, "FIFTY-FIVE"



"A Planing Mill Within Itself"

This tool, in addition to being a beading and center beading plane, a plow, dado, rabbet, filletster, and match plane, a sash plane and a slitting plane, is also a superior moulding plane, and will accommodate cutters of almost any shape and size.

The plane will take practically any form of cutter desired.

The plane has: a main stock, a handle, a depth gauge, a slitting gauge, and a steel bottom forming a bearing for one edge of the cutter. A sliding section, with a steel bottom gives bearing for the other edge of the cutter and slides on arms secured in the main stock. This bottom can be raised or lowered so that, in addition to allowing the use of cutters of different widths, cutters can be used having one edge higher or lower than the edge supported in the main stock.

The main fence has a lateral adjustment for extra fine work. The rosewood guides can be tilted to any desired angle up to forty-five degrees. The second fence can be reversed for center beading wide boards.

The plane is fitted with spurs for working across the grain, and a special cam rest, to be located on the front arm when working at a distance from the edge of the board, to keep the fence from sagging, or on the rear arm on certain work, to prevent the possibility of plane "rocking."

All metal parts of the plane are nickel plated. The handle and fences are made of selected rosewood, and every part is well finished

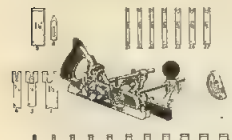
FANCY IRON PLANES

STANLEY, "FORTY-FIVE"



This well known and useful tool in reality combines seven planes in one in a compact and practical form. 1—Beading and centering plane. 2—Plow. 3—Dado. 4—Rabbet and filletster. 5—Match plane. 6—Sash plane. 7—Slitting plane.

It has three principal parts, a main stock, a sliding section and a fence or gauge.

The main stock carries the cutter, cutter adjustment, slitting tool, depth gauge, handle, and provides a bearing for one edge of the cutter.

The sliding section slides on two arms secured in the main stock and provides a bearing for the other edge of the cutter, allowing cutters of different widths to be used.

The fence, which has a lateral adjustment for extra fine work, slides on these arms and is used when working the plane as a plow, beader or filletster, to gauge the distance from the cutter to the edge of the board. The arms slide through the main stock so that the fence can be attached to either side according as the plane is used right or left hand

Two sets of arms are furnished, one set 4¼ in. and the other 8¾ in. long. Longer arms can be furnished if desired.

Spurs for working across the grain are attached to the main stock and sliding section. They can be readily turned up out of the way when not required.

For beading at a distance from the edge of a board a metal cam is furnished to go on the front arm between the sliding section and fence. This will prevent the fence from sagging. This cam can also be attached to the rear arm for work where it is desirable to keep the plane from "rocking."

Twenty-three cutters are furnished with each plane as follows: 11 plow and dado, 7 beading, 1 filletster, 1 sash, 2 match and 1 slitting.

All metal parts are nickel plated. The handle, knob and fence are made of selected rosewood.

Special Bottoms for "Forty-five" Plane

In order to work hollows and rounds, or a nosing cutter in the No. 45 plane, it is necessary to substitute, for the sliding section, specially formed bottoms, which are called by the same name as the cutters they are designed to carry, that is: Hollows, rounds or nosing tools.

A hollow and its cutters will form a round on the moulding being worked. A round and its cutters will form a hollow. Hollows and rounds are made in four sizes and are usually sold in sets, a set comprising one hollow, one round and two cutters.

A nosing tool and its cutter will form an exact half round. It is very largely used for shaping the edges of stair treads. As in the hollows and rounds, the table gives the width of the cutter and the diameter of the circle, which the cutter is designed to work. The price of the nosing tool includes one cutter.

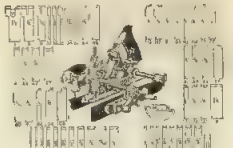
FANCY IRON PLANES

STANLEY, "FIFTY-FIVE"



"A Planing Mill Within Itself"

This tool, in addition to being a beading and center beading plane, a plow, dado, rabbet, filletster, and match plane, a sash plane and a slitting plane, is also a superior moulding plane, and will accommodate cutters of almost any shape and size

The plane will take practically any form of cutter desired.

The plane has: a main stock, a handle, a depth gauge, a slitting gauge, and a steel bottom forming a bearing for one edge of the cutter. A sliding section, with a steel bottom forms a bearing for the other edge of the cutter and slides on arms secured in the main stock This bottom can be raised or lowered so that, in addition to allowing the use of cutters of different widths, cutters can be used having one edge higher or lower than the other supported in the main stock.

The main fence has a lateral adjustment for extra fine work. The rosewood guides can be tilted to any desired angle up to forty-five degrees. The second fence can be reversed for center beading wide boards.

The plane is fitted with spurs for working across the grain, and a special cam rest, to be located on the front arm when working at a distance from the edge of the board, to keep the fence from sagging, or on the rear arm on certain work, to prevent the possibility of plane "rocking."

All metal parts of the plane are nickel plated. The handle and fences are made of selected rosewood, and every part is well finished

KOKOMO ELECTRICAR

An exact replica of the finest racing cars. Constructed of heavy gauge metal to withstand the roughest handling, will retain its flashy appearance and speed through many, many hours of strenuous fun.

Overall length of car 12 in., width 6 in., height 3½ in.

In the Electricar outfit is included 20 ft. of fence, in just two pieces, the plate I to resist rusting. No track to piece together. Easy to set up—easy to put away. The fence is of high quality spring steel and can be stepped on without damage. There are only four points to connect when assembling track and transformer. The fence can be arranged in any position. The car automatically follows the fence inside or out. This wonderful steering feature of the Electricar makes it adaptable to any room or condition. Additional fence may be purchased in 16 ft. lengths.

Three times as fast as other electric toys. The Electricar is fast. In fact, much faster than any other electric toy. It is constructed to withstand the requirements of lightning speed. A special, patented steering arrangement keeps the Electricar to the fence regardless of shape, so that it can be used anywhere, a real position. No modern toy list is complete without this desirable feature. An ordinary toy transformer operating from the light socket, supplies power for the Electricar. The current consumed is negligible. Hours of thrilling fun at practically no cost. The speed of the toy is variable and adds new zest to the youthful driver. (25 or 60 watt transformer recommended.)

AMERICAN FLYER DIAL TYPE

The American Flyer dial type transformers have eight distinct features as follows.

Speed Control—by "fractional voltage steps," eliminates necessity of a rheostat.

Dial Operation—Speeds can be changed much easier than on the old-fashioned switch lever.

Concealed switch—No toes or contacts exposed eliminating possibility of a short circuit. Positive electrical contact is assumed due to this construction.

Direct Reading—The arrow on the dial knob points directly on the chart to the voltage the transformer is giving.

Approved Type—Meets all requirements and are approved by the National Board of Underwriters.

Capacity—Guaranteed to deliver full rated capacity. While especially made to operate American Flyer trains, they are equally as good in the operation of other toys.

Beauty—By concealing operating parts, and with the addition of the attractive shield, they are really beautiful.

Selling Effort—Experience has demonstrated that a train is no better than its transformer, and less selling effort is required when combined units are of the same make.

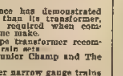
115 volt, 60 cycle draftype transformer recommended for the following train sets:

No. 1288, 50 watt—The Junior Champ and The Vanguard.

No. 1290, 75 watt—All other narrow gauge trains and the manual control wide gauge trains, the Trail Blazer and The Eagle.

No. 1296, 100 watt—All narrow or wide gauge trains of any manufacture.

No. 1296, 150 watt—All narrow or wide gauge trains of any manufacture and with elaborately lighted and automatic equipment. Particularly recommended for window display purposes.



Approved by Underwriters Laboratories. The knob turns, similar to a radio dial, and the pointer on the knob indicates on the voltage plate the amount of current being used. The contact is positive in action, there is no possibility of the pointer slipping out of position. Is much more convenient to use than the ordinary transformers. All sizes are for 110 volt, 60 cycle A.C. current only.

THE SPIRIT OF ST. LOUIS

A motor-driven electrical toy, of outstanding intrinsic worth, new and greatly improved. The motor used is the famous Eskimo which is used in Eskimo fans and appliances. The toy is strong and sturdily built. Standard is lithographed in attractive colors, and sufficiently weighted so that it will not tip over.

The operation is similar to a regular aeroplane as it starts from the floor and as speed increases it gradually rises until the two planes are on an even keel when it starts to dip as they both whirl around the standard. When the circuit is broken the plane glides gracefully to the floor.

Height of standard, 20 in. Length of planes, 22 in. Length of cross arm, 33 in.

GAGE SELF-SETTING IRON BENCH

Plane Iron Lever and Cap Frog

Do not chatter because the cutter iron is held rigid at the cutting edge by the cap; at the same time the lever screw used for tightening the cap is pressing against the binder plate on top of the cutter iron. This pressure against the binder plate holds the cutter firm its entire length.

The self-setting features are:

First—The relating of the edge of the steel cap to the edge of the iron is automatically adjusted when setting the plane for fine or coarse work.

Second—The plane iron and cap goes back in the same position after being removed for honing

A Remarkable New Kind of Fountain Pen!

Holds More Ink ↖ No Rubber Sack ↖ Easy to Fill ↖ Sells Quickly

The "Transparo" Pen is the result of years of experience in fountain pen manufacture. It is a perfected, visible self-filler. Just one downward stroke of the plunger and your pen is full. It eliminates the rubber sack and, size for size, holds 2 to 5 times more ink than any sack pen. It requires fewer fillings. You always know how much ink is in your "Transparo." The visible feature tells you when to re-fill.

NO INK ON HANDS

The "Transparo" is the only pen that fills without dipping deep into the inkwell. It fills near the tip of the point. No wiping—no staining of fingers.

Wahl-Eversharp fountain pens are made in six beautiful and flashing colors: Rosewood, Black, Green, Coral, Blue, and the new and exceedingly popular Black and Pearl. They come in four sizes: Regulation thickness long with clip, short with clip, ladies' size with ring for attaching to sautoir; and the oversize, long with clip. All are lever self-fillers.

They are fitted with the highest quality 14k solid gold iridium tipped nibs.

Personal Points: An added feature of the new Wahl-Eversharp line of fountain pens is the ability of the dealer to interchange points from one pen to another without disturbing the setting of the nib. This in itself is one of the best selling points of this line, for should a customer desire a point other than the one in the pen, all that is necessary is to unscrew the desired point from another pen and interchange it into the one being purchased.

There are gold filled bands set in at the ends of all caps. Clips, rings, bands, lever filler are all gold filled.

All pens listed here carry the "Wahl-Eversharp" lifetime guarantee of satisfaction.

Wahl Eversharp Equi Poised Fountain Pens and Pencils

A new line of Wahl-Eversharp fountain pens and pencils at prices astonishingly low, considering the quality of the merchandise.

Made in the new equi-poised shape (equally balanced). Up to the present time, this shape has been obtainable only in much higher-priced merchandise. Now, Wahl-Eversharp has combined this feature with its quality reputation with the lower priced line and put out a pen that is far superior to any made at the same price.

The pens are made of unbreakable material in the flashing colors so familiar to the Wahl-Eversharp line: Jade Green, the popular Black and Pearl, the new Kashmir Pearl, at present one of the most popular of colors; and Wahl's latest and most modern color, the Flamingo. The pen points are of 14K solid gold tipped with iridium, insuring lasting quality to this new product.

Wahl-Eversharp has put into the pencil made to match these pens its new three-action movement which in addition to propelling the lead, also repels and expels it. Extra leads and ernser are kept under the slip-off cup.

All trimmings on both pens and pencils are gold filled and made to match perfectly.

Summing up all the above, we can truthfully say that these pens and pencils are worthy of the name "Wahl-Eversharp," which has a world-wide reputation as a trade-mark of quality.

The outstanding beauty of Wahl-Eversharp Desk Sets, coupled with the recognized writing ease of Wahl-Eversharp Fountain Pen, makes these sets the choice of discriminating people. The onyx, glass and marble used in the manufacture of these sets is the finest obtainable; the workmanship of the highest quality.

The gracefully tapered pens are ornamented with 14 kt. gold filled bands. Gold filled filling levers. The pens are fitted with 14 kt. solid gold iridium tipped nibs. They fit into a humidor cap, scientifically designed to keep the pen point moist so that it is always ready for writing use, while preventing ink, deposited in the cap, from reaching the pen barrel, and soiling the fingers. The ball and socket joint of the cap holds the pen in any position desired

G. E. MAZDA LAMP MERCHANDISE AIDS

★★★★ THE FOUR STAR PLAN ★★★★

All of the most successful merchants use the Four Star Plan. It consists of nothing more than applying the four first principles of good merchandising to store operation.

This Four Star Plan is not just a way of selling more lamps, it's a way of selling more goods of all kinds in any store that sells lamps.

STAR NO. 1

Make more sales through your store front and store windows. This includes everything that can be done with the store front and store window to identify it as a place where Mazda lamps are sold. It means telling people, of stopping them and drawing them into the store such as the Three Wing Service and the Blue Carton Lantern.

STAR NO. 2

Making more sales through your interior display, it includes everything that can be done in the inside of the store in the way of reminders and silent salesmen to boost lamp and lighting sales, such as the lamp demonstrator, price cards and lamp charts.

STAR NO. 3

Making more sales through word of mouth selling, it includes everything that asks people to buy such as telling them the right lamp for each socket, how are you fixed for lamp signs.

STAR NO. 4

Making more sales through going outside the store. It includes everything that goes beyond the store, such as calling on factories and stores, by personal calls and telephone calls, mailing folders and Mazda calendars.

Price to lamp agents. Each.. ..... .$0.25

SHELF LABELS

These shelf labels are made of white celluloid and have blank spaces in which you may fill in lamp voltage, watts, etc. Furnished free to lamp agents.

WINDOW DISPLAY SERVICE

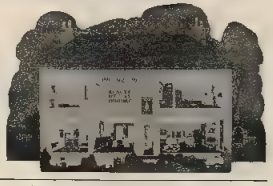
The 1930 display service features the higher priced, greater service lamps included in the Step-Ahead:—100 watt inside frosted, daylight, flame-tint, colored and decorative lamps. Color and attraction value make this display material unusual in sales appeal.

The 1930 service includes six sets of posters for the three-wing frame, two large cutouts, two 6-lamp holders, six smaller lamp holders, nine streamers, a daylight lamp recipe display card, four feet of Dennison crepe paper, and twelve display suggestion sheets.

The year's service costs $2.75—an extra $1.00 if you need a three-wing display frame. The January service is pictured above. One of the large cutouts appears below.

WELL LIGHTED HOME CUTOUT

By means of this novel device, the dealer may demonstrate to his customers just how the well-lighted home can be outfitted with General Electric Mazda lamps. It carries the important message of particular lamps for particular places. It costs $1.50 delivered. Size 67x38 in. Lithographed on heavy cardboard in full color. Form No. D-31.



HOME ASSORTMENT HOUSE CARTONS

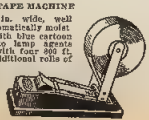
These novel cartons encourage customers to buy by the carton.

The suggested assortment is made up of three 40 watt, two 60 watt and one 100 watt lamps. Empty cartons make fine playthings for the kiddies.

Cartons come in three house designs—home store and department store. They come packed flat in packages of 100, and each package contains the three designs—33, 33 and 34 in quantity.

Price, $3.50 per 100 for less than 500 and $2.00 per 100 for 500 or more.

TAPE MACHINE



Tape is 1⅛ in. wide, well gummed and automatically moistened. Printed with blue cartoon design. Price to lamp agents $2.75, complete with four 500 ft. rolls of tape. Additional rolls of tape 25c each.

STEP-AHEAD MERCHANDISER

The fact that any shopper may step up and rotate the tray of this vender until the desired lamp is found, makes it particularly effective in spaces too small to accommodate the lamp counter. Also excellent to combine with the lamp counter in larger stores. Carries references of lamp uses, prices, watts, etc. Colorful lamp shade, 6 lamp sizes. Measures 28½ in. greatest diam., 37½ in. high.

G. E. MAZDA LAMPS

LAMP LIFE

The rated total life of most of the usual sizes of large Mazda lamps listed on the regular schedules is 1000 hours. It is impossible to make lamps so accurately that the actual life of each individual lamp will just equal its rated life. Some lamps have less than the rated life, others have a life correspondingly longer, but the average life of a large number of lamps is close to the rated life, providing they are burned under correct operating conditions, i. e., at their rated voltage, on a well-regulated circuit, and without excessive vibration or handling.

GENERAL FEATURES OF MAZDA LAMPS

Convenience, reliability, high efficiency and adaptability are some of the features of Mazda lamps which are responsible for their rapid adoption in store, office, factory and public building lighting, in city and suburban homes; in flashlight, hand lantern and automobile service; in street and sign lighting; in theatres and many other classes of service. This schedules which follow present the wide variety of sizes in which Mazda lamps are regularly manufactured to meet this widely diversified demand.

Mazda lamps are divided into two general classes: Large and miniature styles.

MAZDA

Not the name of a thing but the mark of a research service.

The trade-mark Mazda on an incandescent lamp signifies that the manufacturer of the lamp has had the advantage of the most recent findings of the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company.

A Mazda lamp is always the product of the latest and best methods of incandescent lamp making.

The filaments of all Mazda lamps are at present made of tungsten. When any material more suitable for the purpose is discovered or developed, it will be used.

In a Mazda B lamp the filament operates in a vacuum.

In a Mazda C lamp the filament operates in an inert gas.

HOW TO ORDER LAMPS

All orders should give the following information:

Quantity—Number of lamps desired. Purchases will avoid delays and get best discount by ordering standard package quantities.

Size of Lamps—Specify wattage of multiple lamps and lumens of street series lamps.

Voltage—For multiple lamps.

Amperes—For series lamps.

Bulb—For example A-19, G-25, T-4, P-18, PS-30, etc. The letter in the bulb designation indicates its shape and the figure its diameter in eighths of an inch. Thus a PS-30 bulb is pear shaped and is 30/8 or 3¾ in. in diameter. G indicates a round (globular), and T a tubular bulb. The letter "A" indicates the standard line bulb shape with inside frost, unless otherwise noted.

Finish of Bulb—Clear, white bowl, daylight, white, etc.

Base—Medium screw, mogul screw, or candelabra screw.

Service—For example: Projection, floodlighting, locomotive headlight, etc.

STANDARD LINE—INSIDE FROSTED

The Standard Line inside frosted Mazda lamps represent the highest achievement in incandescent lamp manufacture, and for general lighting service are distinctly superior to the older types they have superseded. They produce better illumination, are more efficient, and are easily cleaned.

However, there are a few classes of service, as indicated below, where special precautions are necessary

Outdoor Service—The 50, 60, 75 and 100-watt lamps of the Standard Line are Mazda C (gas filled) lamps and should not be generally used out of doors, unless protected from rain or snow

Industrial Service—Where vibration, such as is produced by heavy or high speed machinery, prevails, the 50-watt P-18 bulb lamp listed in next column is recommended.

Where lamps are subjected to rough handling, such as in extension cord service, the 50-watt A-19 bulb Rough Service lamp listed in next column should always be used.

INSIDE COLORED AND TINTED LAMPS

Flametint, ivory, old rose, red, blue, green, yellow and amber-orange.

Flametint lamps give a soft tinted lighting effect often desirable in homes, hotels, theatres, etc.

Substantially all the color effects required for decorative and display lighting in theatres, restaurants, signs, etc., can be produced by the colored and tinted lamps listed below. In the interest of lamp type simplification it is recommended that colored lamp demand be confined to these types.

FOOT-CANDLE METER

The foot-candle meter is a small, self-contained instrument which measures illumination intensities in foot-candles. The practicability of these instruments in the scientific measure of illumination intensities is shown by the fact that approximately 20,000 of these are in use at the present time. Technical knowledge is not required in the use of the meter because the adjustment is very simple and determinations are readily made.

The foot-candle meter meets a long-standing demand for a small, portable instrument which can be used for measuring the light delivered on the work. This effective light is what the consumer actually pays for and is therefore the only kind of illumination in which he is interested from a commercial standpoint. Factory tests have proved that higher intensities than those now in general use result in improved labor conditions and increased production. From these tests, tables have been compiled to show the intensities required for different industries. These tables are supplied with each meter.

The foot-candle meter shows where increased intensities must be installed to get the desired results.

Approximate weights: Meter only 2 lbs., packed for shipment 4 lbs.
Size of meter 8½x4⅝x1¾.

Foot-Candle Meter ..... Each $22.50
Recalibration charge ..... Each 1.50

Foot-candle meters should be returned at least once every four months for recalibration.

Besides allowing extreme leverage these wrenches are long enough to allow tappet adjustments while the motor is hot, the proper time for tappet adjusting.

To satisfy conflicting mechanic opinions we provide two styles of tappet wrenches: L—With both ends of wrench milled with same size openings, S—with different sized openings on same wrench.

Assortment of wrench sizes in each of the sets shown below so arranged as to give mechanic greatest usefulness from a small number of tools. Design of the wrenches in such that two may be handily worked as a scissors in one hand and a third in the other.

★★★★ THE FOUR STAR PLAN ★★★★

All of the most successful merchants use the Four Star Plan. It consists of nothing more than applying the four first principles of good merchandising to store operation.

This Four Star Plan is not just a way of selling more lamps, it's a way of selling more goods of all kinds in any store that sells lamps.

STAR NO. 1

Make more sales through your store front and store windows. This includes everything that can be done with the store front and store window to identify it as a place where Mazda lamps are sold. It means telling people, of stopping them and drawing them into the store such as the Three Wing Service and the Blue Carton Lantern

STAR NO. 2

Making more sales through your interior display, it includes everything that can be done in the inside of the store in the way of reminders and silent salesman to boost lamp and lighting sales, such as the lamp demonstrator, price cards and lamp charts.

STAR NO. 3

Making more sales through word of mouth selling, it includes everything that asks people to buy such as telling them the right lamp for each socket, how are you fixed for lamp signs.

STAR NO. 4

Making more sales through going outside the store. It includes everything that goes beyond the store, such as calling on offices and stores, by personal calls and telephone calls, mailing folders and Mazda calendars.

LAMP LIFE

The rated total life of most of the usual sizes of large Mazda lamps listed on the regular schedules is 1000 hours. It is impossible to make lamps so accurately that the actual life of each individual lamp will just equal its rated life. Some lamps have less than the rated life, others have a life correspondingly longer, but the average life of a large number of lamps is close to the rated life, providing they are burned under correct operating conditions, i. e., at their rated voltage, on a well-regulated circuit, and without excessive vibration or handling

GENERAL FEATURES OF MAZDA LAMPS

Convenience, reliability, high efficiency and adaptability are some of the features of Mazda lamps which are responsible for their rapid adoption in store, office, factory and public building lighting; in city and suburban homes, in flashlight, hand lantern and automobile service; in street and sign lighting; in mines and many other classes of service. The schedules which follow present the wide variety of sizes in which Mazda lamps are regularly manufactured to meet this widely diversified demand.

Mazda lamps are divided into two general classes Large and miniature styles.

MAZDA

Not the name of a thing but the mark of a research service.

The trade-mark Mazda on an incandescent lamp signifies that the manufacturer of the lamp has had the advantage of the most recent findings of the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company.

A Mazda lamp is always the product of the latest and best methods of incandescent lamp making.

The filaments of all Mazda lamps are at present made of tungsten. When any material more suitable for the purpose is discovered or developed, it will be used.

In a Mazda B lamp the filament operates in a vacuum

In a Mazda C lamp the filament operates in an inert gas.

HOW TO ORDER LAMPS

STANDARD LINE—INSIDE FROSTED

The Standard Line inside frosted Mazda lamps represent the highest achievement in incandescent lamp manufacture, and for general lighting service are distinctly superior to the older types they have superseded. They produce better illumination, are more efficient, and are easily cleaned.

However, there are a few classes of service, as indicated below, where special precautions are necessary.

Outdoor Service—The 10, 60, 75 and 100-watt lamps of the Standard Line are Mazda C (gas filled) lamps and should not be generally used out of doors, unless protected from rain or snow

Industrial Service—Where vibration, such as is produced by heavy or high speed machinery, prevails, the 60-watt T-19 bulb lamp listed in next column is recommended.

Where lamps are subjected to rough handling, such as in extension cord service, the 50-watt A-19 bulb Rough Service lamp listed in next column should always be used.

INSIDE COLORED AND TINTED LAMPS

Flametint, ivory, old rose, red, blue, green, yellow and amber-orange.

Flametint lamps give a soft tinted lighting effect often desirable in homes, hotels, theatres, etc.

Substantially all the color effects required for decorative and display lighting in theatres, restaurants, signs, etc., can be produced by the colored and tinted lamps listed below. In the interest of lamp type simplification it is recommended that colored lamp demand be confined to these types.

G. E. MAZDA LAMPS

Medium Screw Base

Mogul Screw Base

These lamps constitute a great percentage of the ordinary lamp demand for store and office lighting.

Proper reflectors should be provided to protect the eyes from the extremely bright filaments of a Mazda C lamp especially where the lamp is hung low in the usual line of vision.

FOOT-CANDLE METER

The foot-candle meter is a small, self-contained instrument which measures illumination intensities in foot candles. The practicability of these instruments in the scientific measure of illumination intensities is shown by the fact that approximately 10,000 of these are in use at the present time. Technical knowledge is not required in the use of the meter because the adjustment is very simple and determinations are readily made.

The foot-candle meter meets a long-standing demand for a small, portable instrument which can be used for measuring the light delivered on the work. This effective light is what the consumer actually pays for and is therefore the only kind of illumination in which he is interested from a commercial standpoint. Factory tests have proved that higher intensities than these now in general use result in improved labor conditions and increased production. From these tests, tables have been compiled to show the intensities required for different industries. These tables are supplied with each meter.

The foot-candle meter shown where increased intensities must be installed to get the desired results.

Approximate weights: Meter only 2 lbs., packed for shipment 4 lbs. Size of meter 8⅝x4¼x1⅝.

Foot-Candle Meter . . . . . Each $22.50
Recalibration charge . . . . . Each 1.50

Foot-candle meters should be returned at least once every four months for recalibration.

INFORMATION ON POCKET KNIVES

It is our aim to furnish our customers under the BBB Brand, the best quality of Pocket Cutlery which can be produced. We believe that the goods will prove that we have accomplished this. The improved methods used in manufacturing our Pocket Knives gives us the desired results.

Blades are made from S. & C. Wardlow's highest quality English knife blade steel, imported especially for blades, forged by hand from the bar, not stamped out of sheet steel, (the method used by many other makers of cutlery.) All blades are uniformly tempered and sharpened by hand on an elistone to a fine cutting edge ready for use.

The workmanship is perfect, they are manufactured by workmen who have made a life study of fine pocket cutlery.

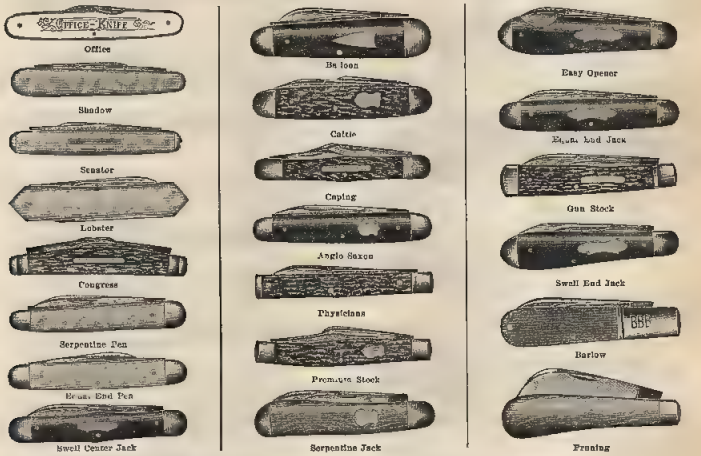
As specified in the description, the blades are either full crocus, polished (i. e., each blade polished on both sides), or half polished (i. e., large blade polished on the marked side and other blades glazed).

PATTERNS OF BLADES

The line contains every shape blade which is practical to use, as is shown by following illustrations.

PATTERNS OF HANDLES

A great variety of shapes and designs of handles are used in this line. The principal ones, with the names by which they are most commonly known, are illustrated below:



BBB Pocket Knife coverings or handles are as follows:

Pearl—Obtained through the London markets from the East Indies and Australian fisheries, where the best grade of pearl is found.

Cut Sing—Made by artificially cutting the second layer of genuine stag, or shin bone of cattle. Carefully colored and scored until it so closely resembles genuine stag, both in its irregular surface and color, as to be difficult to distinguish from the real stag.

White Horn—The shin bone of cattle, carefully selected and cured, gives a covering of good wearing quality and takes a high finish.

Genuine Stag—Outside cut of the horn, obtained from Hungary, Bohemia, Ceylon and China.

Buffalo Horn—From the buffalos of Siam, India, and the water buffalo of China.

Cocobolo—A hard, red wood of fine grain, which comes chiefly from South America.

Genuine Ebony—A hard, black wood of very fine grain, obtained chiefly from the east coast of Africa and Madagascar.

Celluloid—A manufactured composition, produced either transparent or in a great variety of colors. It may be made in imitation of almost any of the other coverings which are used on the knives by dyeing the material the shade of color you want.

Linings—Are of nickel silver, brass or steel, whichever is best adapted to the particular knife on which it is used. The outside edges are milled on some of the most expensive patterns.

Bolsters—The bolsters are, in the great majority of cases, of nickel silver. In a few cases, on the cheapest knives, steel is used.

Shields—Are made of nickel silver, in various shapes and sizes, as best adapted to each individual pattern.

Rivets—Are of nickel silver, or steel.

Back Springs—Are made of forged steel, uniformly tempered, carefully fitted and full polished. Some of the patterns have milled backs.

Care of a Knife—A well-made pocket knife is a piece of work of art and should be treated as such. It should be kept cleaned and oiled at the joints. All our blades are ground to sixty-five cutting teeth to the inch, which gives them a fine cutting edge which should be preserved by the user. Never sharpen a pocket knife on a grindstone. Always sharpen on a fine oilstone, holding blade at an angle of 25°. If this is done, we are confident that every pocket knife bearing the BBB Brand will give the user complete and lasting satisfaction.

We absolutely guarantee all BBB Pocket Knives against defects of temper or flaws.

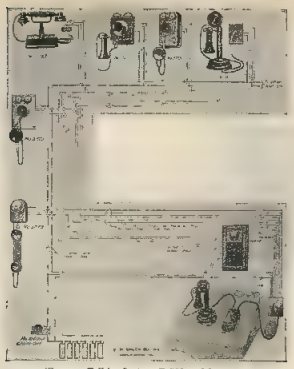
COUCH MASTER TELEPHONE ANNUNCIATORS AND SUBSTATION TELEPHONES



(Common Talking Systems B-83B and S-43B)

MASTER STATION SYSTEMS

For grade school, small high school, private school or commercial house.

System B-3B. This system provides two way communication between a master station and outlying sub-stations. Communication between sub-stations is obtained by a sub-station first calling the master station and requesting that the desired sub-station be called. Conversations are under the supervision of the master station. All stations are common to one talking circuit.

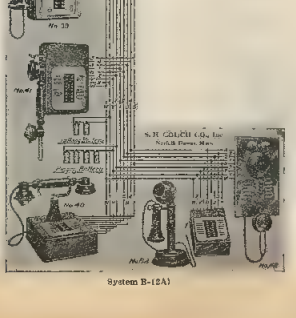
System B-3MC. This system provides communication as above with the added feature that the master station is equipped with one or more buttons for ringing all stations simultaneously, up to 29 in number per button, for conference or general call by means of code ringing.

INSTALLATION DATA

For dry indoor runs use damp proof office wire, or where a 4 conductor cable can be employed use code No. P-4 cable.

For inside wiring where moisture exists, wiring in conduit or outside wiring use rubber covered and braided wires, or where a 4 conductor cable can be employed use Code No. WP-4 cable.

Four or more dry cells should be located as near master station as possible, together with a choke coil. Each battery lead should not exceed .05 ohm.



System B-(2A)

Common Talking Systems B-83B and S-43B

For grade schools and small high schools.

System B-83B. Telephones connected to a common talking circuit. Classrooms and outlying stations can call master station only and master station can call any substation. By pumulation of master station 2 substations may converse.

Up to and including 50 KV-A. 75 KV-A. and above

High voltage winding is subdivided into several sections, thereby reducing the voltage strain between sections and between layers to a minimum. The insulation between layers is several times heavier than necessary and a large oil duct is provided between primary and secondary to insure high ample insulation and insulation. A heavy insulation shield is also placed between the secondary and core. All taps, where required, are brought out from the middle of the winding, while the terminal primary coils are double insulated and the turns spaced. Suitable for outdoor and indoor installation.

Transformers having low voltage ratings of 230/460 for sizes 100 kv-a. and below are arranged for series, multiple or three-wire service or connections of the low voltage leads outside of the transformer tank; sizes 150 and 200 kv-a. are suitable for series or three-wire service only and full kv-a. cannot be obtained at 115 volts. Transformers with low voltage ratings of 230/460 are suitable for series or multiple service.

Hangers are furnished with transformers up to and including 50 kva. Cutouts are not regularly furnished with any size.

The KVA rating of the coil is the unbalanced load the coil is to carry. Where the unbalanced load is unknown, it is the usual practice to assume it to be 25% of the total connected load. If the total connected load is 2 KVA, then the capacity of the coil would be ½ KVA.

For 440/220 volts add 20% to list from 0 KVA to 4 KVA and 10% to list above 4 KVA.

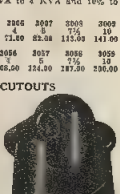
PORCELAIN TRANSFORMER CUTOUTS



Single pole, 30 amperes, 2500 volts.

The gas chambers are hermetically designed to contain and carry off the gas when fuse is blown. Made of highly vitrified porcelain with deep brown glaze. Surface of case is smooth and free from shoulders or pockets to prevent dust, dirt, rain, snow or ice from collecting on the cutout. Heavy lugs maintain ample space between the case and crossarm for drawing. The mount by screw holes are located sufficient distance from all live parts and closed throughout. The plug has broad arm, shield and long heavy dulled handle tapering toward the shield.

COUCH APARTMENT HOUSE TELEPHONE SYSTEMS AND MAIL BOXES

COMBINATION VESTIBULE MAIL BOX AND TELEPHONE EQUIPMENT

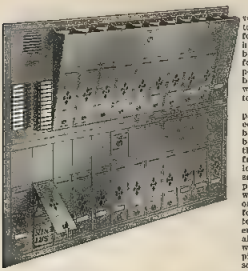

Illustration shows a vestibule mail box and telephone combination for a 25-suite apartment house. Top row of mail boxes is tilted forward for deposit of mail by postman and one box in bottom row is open for withdrawal of mail by tenant.

The outstanding and patented feature of the couch "tilting" mail box is that the whole box tilts forward (not the upper half of the front only) which allows the postman to insert large and bulky pieces of mail matter without fear of bending or tearing. The tilting feature also allows of a tenant's door of large enough dimensions to allow the tenant to withdraw with ease any piece that may be inserted by the postman.

The New "Lugless" Watch Cases

The Cleverest Innovation in a Century of Case Making

Neater and trimmer than any wrist watch ever made, is the new, lugless case shown here for the first time. A clever, new principle of attaching the strap to the case is used on the two new models illustrated below. If you will notice closely, there is no lug or fitting on the side of the case. The strap or the metal bracelet seems to disappear right into the case! It has the clever effect of the strap passing right through the case. Of course, this is not so; there is a concealed attachment inside, that can never pull out. By eliminating the fold in the strap, the lugless watch case, doubles the life of the leather strap. This new lugless case is licensed to a few high grade watch manufacturers. It is the mark of a gentleman's watch

WALTHAM WATCHES

Handsome Models of Railroad Accuracy

Approved and recommended by Railroad Watch Inspectors
Guaranteed to exceed all official requirements

RAILROAD WATCHES MUST BE RIGHT

The man in the cab can take no chances. His watch must be accurate to the second and he must know it is dependable. Frequent watch inspections by railroad officials quickly show whether or not a railroad man's watch is accurate. In the gruelling railroad tests, Waltham Watches have outstripped all competition. Most railroad men in the United States carry Waltham.

FOR HEAVY DUTY—GET A WALTHAM

The Waltham watch is known for its great accuracy wherever heavy work is done. Down in the mines, where there is continual moisture and magnetic ores that stop ordinary watches, the Waltham is the unanimous choice of workers. Railroad men, inspectors, men who know what a watch has to stand up under—the great majority of these men wear Walthams. For absolute dependability—for heavy duty—wear a Waltham and carry the right time always.
